Summary: The expert, a industry consultant, walks through management changes and execution risk at Meridian Freight Systems and gives a view on realistic scenarios for the next 12 to 18 months.

Q: How would you characterize the last two quarters? A: The expert describes a gradual normalization after an unusually strong prior year, with pricing holding better than volumes. Q: What should investors watch? A: Renewal outcomes in the largest accounts and any change in the discounting posture of the two main rivals.
