Summary: The expert, a customer (procurement lead), walks through demand signals from the largest customer segment at Bluefern Biosciences and gives a view on realistic scenarios for the next 12 to 18 months.

Q: How would you characterize the last two quarters? A: The expert describes a gradual normalization after an unusually strong prior year, with pricing holding better than volumes. Q: What should investors watch? A: Renewal outcomes in the largest accounts and any change in the discounting posture of the two main rivals.
